

Motivational Humorist | Corporate Trainer | Keynote Speaker

"It's like Tony Robbins and Jerry Seinfeld had a baby!"

David Mammano is a serial entrepreneur who uses his experiences to help companies optimize their workplace. He is a three-time Inc. Magazine 5000 Growth Company winner, a Rochester Top 100 Company, a two-time TEDx speaker, the Founder of his local EO Chapter, and an adjunct professor at the University of Rochester. David also hosts The Optimize Show, an online TV show helping business leaders enhance workplace environments.

David is a graduate of the University at Buffalo and of the MIT Entrepreneurial Master's Program, an executive education program offered through the Entrepreneurs' Organization (EO). His most recent book Crash and Learn: Lessons in Business quickly rose to the top of the Amazon best-seller list. Other books include Make Love in the Workplace and 101 Things You Can Do to Become an Outstanding Young Adult.

"It was eye-opening to see the value that humor brings to the workplace."

M. Oliverio | Paychex

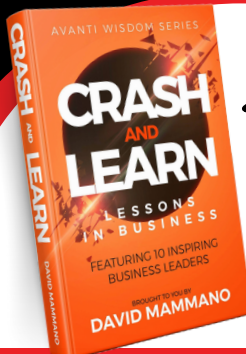

"Dave was the glue that held our entire event together!"

K. Williams | National Pawn Broker's Association
